

OFFICE OF COURT ADMINISTRATION

Information and Instructions Regarding the Application for Temporary and Final Protective Orders

The Office of Court Administration of the Texas Judicial System (OCA) is required¹ to develop and make available on OCA's Internet website a standardized form for an application to apply for a protective order. Effective June 1, 2024, state law requires applicants to use OCA's standardized form when applying for a protective order. Use these instructions and application to apply for a protective order, including a temporary ex parte order, if you need protection from someone who hurt or threatened you, and that person is:

1. your current or former spouse;
2. your current or former girlfriend, boyfriend, or dating partner;
3. someone with whom you live or have lived with in the past (in the same household);
4. someone with whom you have a child together (biological child, adopted child, foster child, etc.);
5. a close relative or a member of your family;
6. someone who is or was dating or married to your current spouse, girlfriend, boyfriend, or dating partner;
7. someone who has committed an offense against you, and the offense was trafficking, sexual assault, indecent assault, aggravated sexual assault, stalking, or compelling prostitution;
8. someone who abused a child member of the person's family or household, and you are the parent or guardian of that child (You can file the application on the child's behalf); or
9. someone who committed family violence, dating violence, child abuse, trafficking, sexual assault or abuse, indecency with a child, indecent assault, stalking, or compelling prostitution against a family or household member who is less than 18 years of age, and you are filing the application on that family or household member's behalf.

There may be other situations that may lead you to request a protective order. In essence, if you were hurt or threatened by someone with whom you have a close relationship, or if you were sexually assaulted or stalked by someone, even if you do not have a close relationship with that person, you may file an application for a protective order. A "close relationship" includes marriage, close relatives, dating or living together, or having a child together, including a biological, foster or adopted child.

In some situations, you may file the application on someone's behalf if that person needs protection. However, there are limits on who may file the application on someone's behalf. You must be one of the following:

1. An adult applying to protect any child from family violence;
2. An adult member of a family of household applying to protect a child who was abused by another member of the same family of household;
3. An adult member of the family or household filing on behalf of another member of the family or household;
4. A prosecuting attorney;
5. An attorney representing the person who was hurt or threatened; or
6. An employee of the Department of Family and Protective Services.

DO I HAVE TO USE OCA'S APPLICATION?

Yes - State law requires you to use the application created by OCA. You will find the application on OCA's website. Be sure to check the website for the most recent version of the application.

CAN I ALTER THE APPLICATION?

If you are not an attorney or court staff, please do not alter the application, as you may delete provisions that are required by statute.

ATTENTION ATTORNEYS FILING ON BEHALF OF AN APPLICANT – Attorneys may alter the style of the cause and signature line to fit their particular needs. Attorneys may delete parts or sections that do not apply to their case, but they should not change the order of the content, the material components of the application, or any element required by statute. OCA will publish an unlocked version of the application for attorneys to use within a week or two.

TO REQUEST A PROTECTIVE ORDER, YOU MUST DO THE FOLLOWING:

1. Print these instructions and the application for protective order from OCA's website, unless you are completing the application online. If you want to complete the application online, download the form and enable editing.
2. Complete the application using a dark color ink pen (blue or black).

3. Verify that you have marked all applicable boxes with an and that your mark is dark and clearly visible so that it will show when copied.
4. Sign the application using a dark color ink pen (blue or black).
5. If you are requesting a temporary ex parte order, complete either the Affidavit or the Declaration located at the end of the application.
6. Provide an address where the court can contact you. If you do not want the person who hurt or threatened you to have your contact information, ask a family member, close friend, or person you trust if you can use his or her address, or designate a person who is willing to receive court information and notices on your behalf and provide that person's address. Do not use the address of a person who plans to move soon. Also, if you designate someone, it is important to designate a person who will deliver court information and notices to you immediately.
7. File the application with the clerk of the court. For more information on where to file the application, see the section below for Where Do I File the Application?
8. Provide the clerk with at least two copies of the application and required documents, if any. One of the copies will be served on or delivered to the Respondent, the person who hurt or threatened you. The clerk will return the other copy to you after stamping it.
9. YOU DO NOT HAVE TO PAY FILING COSTS OR FEES when you file the application. If the clerk demands payment, kindly ask the clerk to read Section 81.002 of the Family Code, which reads as follows:

Sec. 81.002. NO FEE FOR APPLICANT. 10. If the court grants the protective order, complete the TCIC Protective Order Data Entry Form (located on OCA's website) and give it to the clerk when you attend the hearing for the protective order. This document is very important because law enforcement must enter this information into a statewide and national database. Law enforcement uses the information to serve and enforce the protective order, including when arresting the person who hurt or threatened you if that person violates provisions of the order.

WHAT DOCUMENTS ARE NEEDED TO COMPLETE THE APPLICATION?

You may need one or more of the following documents to complete or file with the application:

1. A copy of any protective order that you had in the past against the person who hurt or threatened you.
2. A copy of the final order or judgment in any criminal, divorce, or custody case involving you and the person who hurt or threatened you.
3. The agency case number if the Office of the Attorney General Child Support Division is involved in your child support case.
4. Some courts may require you to submit a proposed order with your application for a protective order. If you are requesting the court to issue a temporary ex parte order before the final hearing, you will submit a proposed order for the temporary ex parte order and a proposed order for the protective order. If you did not request a temporary ex parte order, you will submit a proposed order for the protective order. You will find the orders on OCA's website. Print the order(s) from the website. DO NOT FILL OUT OR COMPLETE THE ORDER(S). We recommend printing two copies of each order needed. You will attach one copy to your application and bring one with you to court.

WHERE DO I FILE THE APPLICATION?

You may file the application in one of three places: the county where you live, the county in which the person who hurt or threatened you lives, or in any county where the violence or crime occurred. However, if there is an open divorce or custody case involving you and the other person, file the application in the county where the case is pending or where you live.

Additionally, you have a legal reason if you have a protective order, and the person who hurt or threatened you violates a part of the order that is designed to protect you or a member of your family or household.

“Family violence” occurs when you are hurt or threatened by a member of your family or household or a current or former dating partner. This is not the only time family violence occurs. Family violence occurs when your ex-dating partner or ex-spouse threatens, harms, or injures your current spouse or dating partner. It also occurs when a child is abused by a member of the child’s family or household.

Please mark all boxes that provide a legal reason for you to apply for a protective order.

If you list a child, you should indicate whether the person who hurt or threatened you is a parent or guardian of the child. There are three boxes provided below the space included for the names of the children.

1st box: If you need more space to list the names of the children, you may attach a separate sheet with the names. If an additional sheet is attached, please mark the box that indicates an additional sheet is attached. Please write the following at the top of the sheet – “Application for Protective Order, No. 3 –Children (continued).”

Mark all that apply:

- Other children are listed on a sheet attached to this Application.
- The children are or were members of the Applicant’s family or household.
- The children are the subject of a court order affecting access to them or their support.

2nd box: The children must be current or former members of your family or household. If you are filing the application on someone’s behalf, the children must be current or former members of that person’s family or household. You must mark the box to verify that the children are members of your family or household.

Mark all that apply:

5. Other Adults - You can ask for protection for an adult member who is or was a member of your family or household, a dating partner, or a spouse. Please provide the full legal name of the adult(s).

6. Other Court Cases – The court needs to know whether any of the parties or persons in need of protection are involved in another case, such as a criminal, divorce or child support or custody case. If there is another case, the court may need to notify the other court or transfer the application or protective order to the other court or another county. If there is or was another case, please mark the box Yes and write the type and status of the case in the space provided. Include the cause number and county of the case, if known. See the example below.

5. Other Court Cases: Are there other court cases involving the Applicant, Respondent, or children?

- Yes
- No

If “Yes,” what kind of case and is the case active or complete?

If the case is complete (closed), mark the box that best indicates when you will provide a copy of the final order, divorce decree or judgment for the case. Finally, if the Attorney General's Child Support Division is involved with any of the parties, please mark the box that indicates the Attorney General's office is involved and provide the case number, if you know it.

7. Family Violence – Please answer the questions with respect to the Respondent's history of family violence or criminal cases. If you do not know the answer to any of the questions, mark the box for Unknown.

8. Terms and Conditions – You can request certain terms and conditions for your protective order. For instance, you may ask the court to order the person who hurt or threatened you to do (complete a program for abusers) or to refrain from doing something (stay away or not come within a certain distance of you). You do not have to mark all of the conditions or terms that are listed in the application, but keep in mind that if you do not mark a condition or term, the court may not include it the protective order. Select conditions and terms that you think will decrease the person's opportunity (it will not eliminate it completely) to hurt or threaten you again.

Please note that if you ask the court to suspend the person's license to carry a handgun, the court may not suspend the license if the person is a peace officer actively engaged in employment as a sworn, full-time paid employee of a state agency or political subdivision.

9. Property Orders – If you share a residence or live with the person who hurt or threatened you, provide the address of the residence. You can ask the court to make that person move out. However, if your name is not on the lease, deed or rental agreement, the court will not order the person to move out, unless the person is legally obligated to support you or the children/child in your care. If you want the court to order the person to move out, you must file a sworn statement supporting your request and go to court to explain to the judge why the person should be ordered to move out.

If the court grants you exclusive possession of the residence or other property, you can request law enforcement assistance you when you return to the residence to claim it or your property. If you want to request exclusive possession of the residence or other property and need law enforcement assistance, you would complete this section as follows:

- Grant the Applicant exclusive use of the residence identified above, and order the Respondent to vacate the residence and its premises;
- Order the sheriff, constable, or chief of police to go with the Applicant to the residence if the Respondent is ordered to vacate the residence to tell Respondent that the Court has ordered the Respondent to leave the residence, provide protection to the Applicant while the Applicant takes possession of the residence and or while the Respondent takes possession of personal property. Applicant requests that law enforcement arrest or remove the Respondent if the Respondent refuses to leave the residence as ordered by the Court;
- Applicant requests exclusive use of the following property that the Applicant and Respondent jointly own or lease:

10. Spousal Support – If you are requesting spousal support, you must be married to the person who hurt or threatened you or legally entitled to support from that person. If you are requesting spousal support, you must mark Box No. 10. If you do not mark the box, the court may not order the Respondent to pay spousal support.

10. Spousal Support Order (Mark the box if asking for spousal support)

If the Applicant is married to the Respondent, Applicant requests the Court to order the Respondent to pay spousal support.

11. Right to Mobile Phone Numbers, Associated Devices and Accounts – If your cell phone number is under the Respondent’s wireless cell phone account, you can request separation of your cell phone number from the Respondent’s account. Also, you can request separation of the cell phone number of any child in your care and custody if that child is the primary user of that number. You must list the cell phone numbers that you want the court to separate. If your request is granted, the court will issue an order directing the Respondent’s cell phone service provider (for instance, ATT, T-Mobile, Sprint) to transfer the cell phone numbers and billing responsibilities to you. Unless the court orders otherwise, you will not be responsible for the outstanding balance on the Respondent’s account. For more information regarding who is responsible or what the service provider can charge for making the transfer, see Section 609.001 of the Business and Commerce Code.

If you want to request separation of your cell phone number, you must mark Box No.

11. If you do not mark the box, the court may not order the number separated from the Respondent's account. The following is an example of how to complete the application if you want to request separation of your cell phone number.

10. Rights to Mobile Phone Numbers, Associated Devices, and Accounts (Mark the box if asking to separate or transfer the wireless phone account)

The Applicant asks for sole use, possession, and control of the following mobile phone numbers and associated mobile devices, including sole billing responsibility and sole ownership of the wireless telephone service account associated with the mobile numbers.

The Applicant further asks the Court to order the Respondent to pay the costs associated with transferring the wireless service account to the Applicant and to pay the outstanding balance on the account.

The following mobile phone numbers and associated mobile devices are used by the Applicant or the children listed in this Application.

List names of children that you and the Respondent have in common. Do not include stepchildren, unless you are legally responsible for them.

If you want to request orders with respect to the children, you must mark Box No. 11. If you do not mark the box, the court may not enter orders for the children's removal, possession or support. Provide the names of the children and mark the boxes that you want the court to grant. See the example below.

11. Orders Related to Removal, Possession, and Support of Children (Mark the box if asking for the removal, possession, or support of the children)

The Applicant and the Respondent are the parents of the following children:
Billy Bob Baker, Jr.

Betty Sue Baker

Maribelle Baker

The Applicant asks the Court to enter the following orders with respect to the children: (Mark all that apply):

- The Respondent must not remove the children from the Applicant's possession or from their child-care facility or school, except as specifically authorized in a possession schedule or other order entered by the Court;
- The Respondent must not remove the children from the jurisdiction of the Court;

- Establish or modify a schedule for the Respondent's possession of the children, subject to any terms and conditions necessary for the safety of the Applicant or the children; and
- Require the Respondent to pay child support in an amount set by the Court

13. Temporary Ex Parte ORDER – When you file your application for a protective order, you have the option of requesting a temporary ex parte order if you need immediate protection from the person who hurt or threatened you. If you request a temporary ex parte order, the court will review your application and determine whether a temporary order is needed under the circumstances. If the court finds that it is, the court will issue the temporary ex parte order immediately, and you and the person who hurt or threatened you will be notified. The temporary order will be in effect for 20 days, unless you request an extension. If the court is unable to hold a hearing before the temporary order expires, you must request an extension of the temporary order if the need for immediate protection remains.

If you want to request a temporary ex parte order, mark Box No. 13.

13. Temporary Ex Parte ORDER (Mark the box if requesting a temporary ex parte order)

Based on the information in the attached Affidavit or Declaration, the Applicant asks the Court to find that there is a clear and present danger of family violence, sexual assault or abuse, indecent assault, stalking, trafficking, or other harm to Applicant and/or a member of the family or household and issue a Temporary Ex Parte Order immediately without bond, notice, or hearing

13a. Temporary Ex Parte Order That Also Requires The Respondent to Vacate Residence Immediately – Mark this box if you want to request a temporary ex parte order that excludes the person who hurt or threatened you from the residence. You cannot exclude the person from the residence if more than 29 days have passed since you left or moved out. The court may not exclude the person from the residence if the person's name is the only name on the lease, deed, or rental agreement, unless the person has a legal obligation to support you or the children. IF YOU MARK THIS OPTION, YOU MUST APPEAR IN COURT TO TESTIFY. THE JUDGE WILL ASK QUESTIONS AND MAY ORDER THE RESPONDENT TO COME TO COURT OR TO TESTIFY.

If you want to request a temporary ex parte order that excludes the person who hurt or injured you from the residence, mark Box No. 13a. *Remember: You cannot request an order to exclude the person from the residence if more than 29 days have passed since you left or moved out. 14. Keep Information Confidential – Although the law prohibits the public disclosure of sensitive data (including, birth date, home address, and names of minors), IT IS IMPORTANT TO MARK BOX NO. 14 IF YOU DO NOT WANT YOUR COUNTY OF RESIDENCE AND THE ADDRESS AND TELEPHONE NUMBER FOR YOUR RESIDENCE, WORKPLACE, SCHOOL, OR CHILDCARE FACILITY DISCLOSED TO THE PUBLIC. Below is an example of how you should mark Box No. 14 if you want your information to remain confidential.

14. Keep Information Confidential (Mark the box if you want your information to remain confidential)

In accordance with Sections 82.011 and 85.007, Tex. Fam. Code, the Applicant requests the Court to exclude from the protective order the county of residence and the address and telephone number for the residence, workplace, school, and childcare facility of any person protected by the protective order. The Applicant further asks the Court to order the clerk of the court to strike the aforementioned information from the public records of the Court and to keep a confidential record of this information for use only by the Court or a law enforcement agency for the purpose of entering the information required by Section 411.042(b)(6), Gov't Code, into the statewide law enforcement information system maintained by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

If you mark Box 14, please provide the name and address of the person you want to receive information and documents on your behalf.

Address: 56 North Loop Drive, Fairview, Texas 75002

15. Citations and Notices – The clerk will issue all citations and notices required for the issuance of the protective order.

16. Prayer – After completing the application, please read it to see if it is correct to the best of your knowledge. If it is, please mark the box that indicates you have read the entire application, and it is correct to the best of your knowledge.

17. Signature - YOU MUST SIGN THE APPLICATION, EVEN IF YOU ARE FILING IT ON SOMEONE'S BEHALF. Provide your complete address, including the city, state, and zip code, and telephone number in the space provided below your signature. If you do not want to use your address and telephone number, use the address and telephone number of the person you designated to receive notices on your behalf. filing on behalf of the Applicant and provide your contact information, unless you designated another person to receive notices on the Applicant's behalf.

Applicant or Person filing on behalf of Applicant

18. Affidavit or Declaration – If you are requesting a temporary ex parte order, you must complete and submit an Affidavit or Declaration with your application. It is important to note that the Respondent will receive a copy of your application along with the Affidavit or Declaration.

- Use the Affidavit if you want to keep your date of birth and address confidential, but you must sign it in front of a notary public.
- Use the Declaration if you do not want to sign in front of a notary public. However, your date of birth and address might be disclosed.

Once you decide which form to use, answer the questions as best you can. This is your opportunity to explain what happened. You do not have to give every detail. A summary of what happened is sufficient. The court will hold a hearing and you will be asked to testify. You can provide more details during your testimony. Use additional pages if you need more space. You must sign the form where it says "Applicant." NOTE: If you are completing the Affidavit, do not sign it until you are in front of the notary.

If you are not requesting a temporary ex parte order, you do not have to complete or submit the Affidavit or Declaration.

19. TCIC PROTECTIVE ORDER DATA ENTRY FORM –Complete the TCIC Data Entry Form to the best of your ability. You will find the form on OCA's website. Give the form to the clerk when you go to court for the hearing. If the court grants the temporary ex parte order without holding a hearing, it is important that you take the form to the clerk's office as soon as possible.

The form is important because law enforcement is required to enter information on the form into a statewide and national database that is used by law enforcement officers when serving and enforcing protective orders.

Please complete the parts of the form in yellow highlight the best you can. If you do not know the information requested, leave it blank. Please provide, at a minimum:

- a. the Respondent's name, date of birth, sex, height, weight, eye color, hair color, and race;
- b. the Protected Person's Data on page 2 of the form (this is for you or the Applicant and any adult protected by the Protective Order); and
- c. the Protected Child's Data on page 2 of the form.

If you need to add more children or adults, you can add pages.

THE TCIC DATA ENTRY FORM DOES NOT BECOME PART OF THE PUBLIC RECORD AND WILL NOT BE SHARED WITH THE RESPONDENT.
