Disaster Recovery Resources

Updated: 09/2018

This guide describes a wide range of federal, private, and nonprofit funding, as well as program and technical assistance resources that may be available pre- and/or post disaster. The list includes:
1. Federal disaster recovery funding opportunities, technical assistance, and program resources.
2. National resources for State, Local, Tribal, and Territorial (SLTT) governments.
3. Other federal funding programs that are available to tribal and local governments through a congressional supplemental allocation.
4. Federal technical assistance to tribal and local governments to better prepare them for future disaster recovery.
5. State funding opportunities, technical assistance, and program resources.

This listing provides a starting point for the user. It is not a comprehensive guide, nor does it indicate applicability or availability for any particular or general recovery need. Application periods for grants are noted on the funding source's website or by contacting the source for additional information and future funding opportunities. The primary, most current and comprehensive source of information on all federal assistance programs is the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA). www.cfda.gov. Resources are also available from states and a wide range of nonprofit and foundation sources.
