

A guide to your
Flexible Spending Account (FSA)

Welcome

How your FSA Works

By choosing to set aside money in an FSA account for use on eligible health and/or dependent-care expenses you reduce the amount of taxes you pay. Here's how it works:

- Before federal, state or Social Security taxes are deducted from your paycheck, money is taken out and placed into your FSA.
- If you have a health care FSA: Your FSA may have an automatic payment feature. If we receive a request for payment (claim) for an eligible expense for which you owe money, we will automatically pay it from your FSA.

For some purchases, you may have to submit a claim to be reimbursed from your FSA. The quickest and easiest way to do this is via an online claim form on myuhc.com.

- If you have a dependent-care FSA: To be reimbursed for dependent-care expenses, you must submit your claims. For faster reimbursement, submit them online at myuhc.com. (Learn more on page 3.)
- Be sure to spend your FSA money before you lose it. See your FSA plan documents to identify your “use it or lose it” date—the date after which no more claims for reimbursement can be submitted.

Remember:

You are saving tax dollars.

The money you use for eligible health and/or dependent-care expenses is not taxed.

Your health care FSA money is available immediately.

The entire amount you set aside is available to you on the first day of the plan year.

Q. When can I use the money in my FSA?

A. Your entire health care FSA amount is available the first day of the plan year. If you need to pay for or be reimbursed for eligible expenses, you don't need to wait for money to be put into the account. If you have a dependent-care FSA, it works slightly differently. Money must be in your dependent-care FSA before you can be reimbursed.

Q. If there is unused money in my FSA at the end of the year, will it carry over?

A. Your plan may allow you to carry over some or all of your balance into the next year. See your FSA plan documents to determine if your balance will carry over or if you will lose your balance at the end of the plan year.

Q. Can I change my election or stop contributing money into my FSA at any time?

A. Federal regulations state that once you have made your election, you cannot change your decision throughout the year unless you have a valid life-status change event, such as the birth of a child, marriage or divorce. Your employer can provide a list of family status changes that allow you to change your contribution.

Q. Where can I find a list of eligible expenses for reimbursement?

A. Review your FSA benefit information to learn which expenses are eligible. The IRS and your employer may modify the list of eligible expenses from time to time. Use the FSA Savings Calculator on myuhc.com to view a list of common eligible expenses.

Q. How do I get reimbursed from my FSA? How long does it take?

A. There are different ways you can be reimbursed. The time it takes to be reimbursed will depend on which option is used. Please note that the amount of reimbursement owed to you must be a minimum of $25 before we will mail you a check. If you sign up for direct deposit, there is no minimum reimbursement requirement. We will reimburse you directly via your personal bank account.

Automatic payment (if it applies): If we receive a request for payment from a doctor, hospital or other health care provider in our network, we will automatically pay it from your FSA (if you owe a payment) within 2-3 days of the claim being processed. If you paid any money up front, such as a co-payment, we will automatically reimburse you. Note: The time it takes for us to receive your claim from your provider is dependent on their billing cycle.

Online claim form: If you submit a claim using the online claim form on myuhc.com, we will typically reimburse you within 2-3 days of the claim being processed.

Paper claim forms: If you choose to complete and mail in a paper claim form, it may take 5-7 days to receive and process the claim. We will typically reimburse you 2-3 days later. Claim forms are available on myuhc.com.

Q. Can I use this year's FSA dollars to pay for expenses I had last year?

A. No. The IRS only allows you to use the money for services and purchases that took place during the current year.

Q. How do I know an FSA claim has been processed?

A. Once your claim has been received, you can view the status of your claim at myuhc.com. You can also sign up at myuhc.com to receive emails on the status of your claim.

Q. What happens if I submit a claim for an amount greater than what I have contributed to my FSA so far this year?

A. For health care FSA: You can be reimbursed up to the entire amount that you've set aside in your FSA. It doesn't matter how much money is in your FSA at that time.

For dependent-care FSA: If your dependent-care FSA balance is less than the amount of your claim, you will only be reimbursed money that is available in your account at that time. The remainder will be reimbursed once your future contributions are deposited into your FSA. For example, if you submitted $500 for reimbursement but only have $300 in your account, you will only be reimbursed $300. You will receive the remaining $200 as funds become available.

Q. Can I transfer money from a health care FSA to a dependent-care FSA or vice versa?

A. No. IRS regulations require that a health care FSA and dependent-care FSA must be treated as two separate accounts.

Q. Can I use a dependent-care FSA for elder care?

A. Yes. You can use the FSA for eligible elder-care expenses so that you or your spouse can work if you are responsible for at least 50 percent of the support of an elder parent, or any person living with you who is unable to physically or mentally care for themselves. This person should be listed on your income tax statement as a legal dependent. You also can use the FSA if the elder care is needed because you work and your spouse is a full-time student.

Q. If someone cares for my children in my home instead of at a daycare facility, do these expenses qualify for reimbursement from a dependent care FSA?

A. You can include wages paid to a babysitter in or outside your home if the services are necessary in order for you, or you and your spouse, to work. Expenses also will qualify for a dependent-care FSA if you work and your spouse is a full-time student. However, these services are not covered if the babysitter is someone you declare as a dependent. If you choose to have eligible dependent care services reimbursed by your FSA, they cannot be claimed for a dependent care tax credit on your federal income tax return. Consult a tax advisor for more information.
